

GRAYLING IS CENTER OF "RECREATIONLAND"

Grayling "sits in the driver's seat." And by reason, for it is here the four-season recreational activity of Crawford is concentrated. In the spring it's trout fishing... in summer the vacation urge... in the fall hunting, and in winter the far-famed winter sports. Located 200 miles from Detroit and 162 from Lansing in the heart of north central Michigan, the Crawford area is an excellent week-end rendezvous.

That bass and pike lakes are many in Crawford County is shown by the two upper photos. Left is a thirteen-pound Great Northern taken from Lake Margrethe, and right, five huge bass weighing between three and six pounds, from the same lake. Lower left shows a historic old rock on the shores of one of Crawford's several lakes. Center is the East Branch of the Au Sable at the State River Falls. Right, the huge Larwick pines, last stand of virgin cork white pine in Lower Michigan.

Oil Exposition Reflects State Interest

HIGH PUBLIC INTEREST IN OIL INDUSTRY; DAILY EXPOSITION PROGRAMS CROWDED WITH HIGH CLASS FEATURES.

Mt. Pleasant, Mich., Aug. 5.—Michigan has this year taken its place among the great oil-producing states of the nation, ranking first of all the states east of the Mississippi River.

The growth of the oil industry in the entire central Michigan area, while development did not begin until 1923. Since that time, however, almost incredibly rapid strides have been made until, at the present time, oil and gas fields completely surround this city and spread themselves over a wide area in central Michigan. As a result of this growth, Michigan has become "oil-conscious" in the last few years. Thousands of people living in the cities or at points distant from the proven fields either own small pieces of property or have relatives or friends who are owners. The present expansive program of exploration in which the Michigan petroleum industry is engaged has so broadened the scope of this interest that nearly everyone in the state envisions himself with some kind of stake in the industry.

All the various aspects of that industry—exploration, production, refining, marketing—will be concentrated in the million dollar second annual Michigan Oil and Gas Exposition here, August 11-16. It will be a meeting place for only for the State's oil men, but the general public alike, whose interest is running high as leases are taken in almost every county in the state.

People who have never seen an oil well drilling will see two in operation on the Exposition grounds, and because of Mt. Pleasant's central location, visitors are enabled to make trips into the fields, where they may have specific interests.

The entire industry will be on display in more than a million dollars worth of exhibits, representing more than 100 exhibitors from nearly a score of states.

In addition, an unusual program of entertainment has been planned to make every hour spent on Island Park's 40 acres a memorable one. A spectacular gas well fire, oil and gas fires in tanks and pits, two musical revues, high class vaudeville acts, Lansing's 60-piece Industrial School band playing two concerts daily, two other large bands, extensive addresses on the industry, fast semi-pro baseball, all-star softball games, a famous movie bat-wing jumper, a large midway, these things represent a cross-section of the extraordinary program planned for Exposition patrons.

From the time ex-governor William Comstock officially opens the Exposition on the night of August 11, until the last visitor departs on the night of August 16, Michigan will see a continual parade of its own great industry. For combined up-to-the-minute popular and educational interest, backed with splendid entertainment features, the Oil Exposition offers a unique holiday for its thousands of visitors.

Shaffer To Run For Judgeship

GLADWIN ATTORNEY SEEKS APPROVAL OF VOTERS AT PRIMARY

Crawford county friend of Judge John C. Shaffer, who is gratified to learn this week that petitions had been filed ing him as a Republican candidate for the nomination as Circuit Judge in the 34th Judicial Circuit, which includes the counties of Arenac, Crawford, Gladwin, Ogemaw, Otsego and Roscommon.

JOHN C. SHAFFER

Judge Shaffer's announcement has not come as a complete surprise to his friends here. His 26 years of successful practice in this circuit made him a logical successor to the late Judge Guy E. Smith whose untimely death in April of this year made necessary an appointment by the Governor to fill the vacancy until the November election. Although Shaffer's capability, the Governor nevertheless assigned the position to Edward A. Blitcke, a former associate in the office of the Secretary of State and later an assistant attorney-general at Lansing.

News of the assignment was received with disappointment by members of the bar residing in the Circuit. So manifest was the resentment in his home county that the Board of Supervisors in their June session unanimously voted to request Shaffer to enter the race for the Circuit Judgeship at the September Primary.

Judge Shaffer is well-known throughout this district. His practice has been confined almost entirely to the counties of the 34th Circuit and he has gained an enviable reputation for his knowledge of law and his ability to clearly analyze the legal aspects of a situation. He was recently accorded state-wide recognition for the successful handling of important water power litigation in the Federal Court.

Born in Gladwin county of American parentage, he is 48 years old and has lived in Gladwin during his entire life, except for time spent in obtaining his legal training at Assumption College and the University of Michigan, and his service with the American forces in France during the World War. He has a long record in public life in his home county, serving as the county attorney for 16 years, attorney for the city of Gladwin for a number of years and at the present time he is attorney for the Probate Court for Gladwin county.
